Greetings unto the populace of Politarchopolis,

The summer months have been a very busy time in our Barony. Thank you to Lady Alesia and Lord Kitane for generously letting us hold War Training and Equestrian on their lands. Thank you to members of Descartes for providing us all with water. We had about 16 heavy combatants and 6 light combatants participate as well as a number of others including marshals and surgeons. Equestrian also did well with 6 interested coming and training.

Baronial Sunday is going well with the next one coming up this Sunday.

St Valentines feast also went well, thank you to the steward, Adam the Renegade and his team including Lady Zanobia Adimari and Lord William de Perham. Thanks to the marshals and heralds, and a big thank you also to those who helped set up and pack down the event.

Congratulations to Lord Kitane Von Falconburg for his award of the Burly Griffin for martial arts. Congratulations also to the newest officer of the Barony, our herald Lord Alexander a la Fontayne. Don Alessandro di Firenze won the Fencing tourney whilst Lord Jonathon of Lochswan won the Heavy tournament. Special mention was made of Lady Mathilde Hastings for a very creative mask whilst thanks were given to Felicia of St Aldhelms for bringing ten newcomers to the event.

The Festival meeting was very productive. At this point in time we have roughly 24ish people plus 4 kids camping with us. Don't forget to book and put Politarchopolis down as your camping group if you are camping with us! Food fund details will be out shortly, as will details about the Baronial night in.

Border War was a fantastic event and many of the populace of our beautiful Barony were in attendance, it was lovely to see you all there and enjoy your company.

War Training is happening again on the 19th of March and more details are further in the newsletter.

We are looking forward to the beginners' combat course that Duke Cornelius Von Becke is running as well as Rowany Festival which is becoming two weeks away very quickly!

Baron & Baroness of Politarchopolis*

Baronial War Practice: 19/3/11

Next War Practice will be as follows:

Where: Kitane and Alesia's house, same as last time. Ring 0420203331 for location/if you get lost

When: 1.30pm-4.30 pm 19th of March 2011

What: Continuation of War Training

3rd time is a tradition! War practice keeps getting bigger and better with about 16 heavies and 6 lights showing up at the last war training plus others including marshals and surgeon. Again, there will be loaner gear.

It was announced at the Feast of St Valentine that Politarchopolis and Rowany are at War.

As such we will be meeting on the field of battle at Rowany Festival. The Missive that was read out is below. Come and join us at war training and then come and join us on the field of battle at Rowany festival to protect and uphold the fair and beautiful lands of Politarchopolis.

After this next war training, pending clashes we are looking at a last War training before festival on the 9th of April which will literally be two weeks before festival.

The Barony of Politarchopolis has recently suffered attacks from across its borders by vicious "bandits" intent on plundering our Fair Barony. In response to these savage attacks we have started to train our local forces to deal with unwanted incursions.

Our need and preparations to defend ourselves, and our good populace, has been taken as aggression and expansionism by the warlike Barony of Rowany. A slighting message was sent to us via missives demanding, nay commanding, us to stand our forces down. To concede to this ungracious command would leave our populace open to the predations of these foul and villainous "bandits"

As Baron and Baroness of Politarchopolis, we swore fealty to the crown to defend the people and lands of Politarchopolis and see to their safety. We cannot, in good conscience, stand our forces down. If this draws the wrath of the warmongering Rowanites, then so be it.

We since received a missive from Rowany declaring War.

Politarchopolis*

Meeting Minutes 23 February 2011

Hospitaller: Handover next court, from Jonathon to Louise. Adelle is Louise's deputy. Handover in next Baronial court.

A&S: quiet time over the break, new venue is operational

B&B: Rowany Festival camping: Approximately 25 people, making an Google group for communication. Border War and Baronial War practice (8th March) are coming up.

College: 12 newcomers, running classes for fencing and heavies. Lights for combat practice? Needed an interested officer, or storage. Adelle to investigate storage.

Herald: Changeover complete, several submissions are in the works, please register interest or submit paperwork. Free registration has been extended indefinitely. Herald request a $50 float for postage costs. PASSED.

Advertisement: please come and learn voice Heraldry, more Voice Heralds needed.

General Business: Cornelius has requested a float of $380 so the Barony can hold a stock of rattan sticks and basket hilts, so that people interested in armoured combat can easily acquire the parts for an SCA sword. PASSED

There was also a request for an expenditure planning group. Seneschal advised that each council meeting exactly was that meeting. A request for a more formalised structure was made. Seneschal advised that he would not be doing this so close to the end of his tenure. An Advertisement in Griffintayle for proposed future expenditure was promised.

Hospitaller was given carte blanche to revitalise the Hospitaller gear. This includes selling the older equipment and organising working bees to create new equipment to newer designs.

Future Planning Announcement:

To facilitate planning, please think of any expenditure that your office or group endeavour may need. Greatest consideration is given to requests for floats, some consideration is given to things that need straight donations. Please outline the request, and the one person who will oversee the funds dispersal, to the Seneschal.

Chronicler Needed!

A new Chronicler is wanted! I would like to step back from this position by Festival. The role is relatively simple and I am not attached to the current format at all, all Chronicler's should make Griffintayle their own.

The role expects 11-12 issues a year (a double issue over Christmas is not a worry). It needs to be produced in an easily shareable format, at the moment this is a Publisher document that I print as a PDF to upload to the website. Quarterly reports need to be emailed to the Kingdom Chronicler and our own Seneschal.

The only other role that is currently taken by the Chronicler is attending meetings and taking minutes (taking these is not a mandatory part of the role, but it does make it easier), this role can be delegated if you can find a volunteer!

A little liaising with event teams to ensure advertising is up to date is the last point. Currently the majority of local stewards are very good at sharing information, so this is easy! I really do want to step down from this role by festival, which is just two issues away (there will be an issue this week, then end of March), so you could take on Griffintayle in all the positive rush that is post-festival with its hoards of pictures!

To any new candidate for this role, I'm not running away totally and will be happy to support you in the changeover process.

So please apply, which is, send me an email saying that you want the role, a little bit of why and any ideas you have!

Ciao, Zanobia
